

GuardianUnlimited Special reports

Special report
Attack on America

Father insists alleged leader is still alive

Kate Connolly in Berlin
Monday September 2, 2002
The Guardian

Search this site

Go to...

Special report: attack on America

Archived articles

Interactive guides

Audio and video reports

Comment and analysis

The suspects

In this section
The sunny day that

The father of Mohammed Atta, the alleged ringleader of the September 11 attacks, said in an interview published yesterday that his son was still alive.

"He is hiding in a secret place so as not to be murdered by the US secret services," Mohammed el-Amir Atta, 66, told the German newspaper Bild am Sonntag. He also vehemently denied that his son - believed to have flown the first plane into the World Trade Centre - had taken part in the atrocities, blaming them instead on "American Christians".

The interview painted a picture of a tortured man who has not come to terms with his 33-year-old son's death or with the huge crime laid at his door. He said he feared the US would try to poison him.

Speaking from his Cairo home, Mr Atta described hearing about the attacks after returning from a holiday on the Red Sea on the evening of September 12. "My daughter called and said she was going to drop in. She stood at the door and said 'turn on the TV'," he said. Amid images of the jets crashing into the Twin Towers, he saw his son's passport photograph.

"As I saw the picture of my son," he said, "I knew that he hadn't done it. My son called me the day after the attacks on September 12 at around midday. We spoke for two minutes about this and that.

"He didn't tell me where he was calling from. At that time neither of us knew anything about the attacks."

Mr Atta said he did not condone the attacks, but could understand the hijackers' motivation. "Every day our Palestinian brothers are being murdered, their houses

The community that lost more than any other

Warning of 9/11 attack 'ignored'

New York counts cost of 9/11

Berlin faces US fury over 'hijacker'

Father insists alleged leader of attack on WTC is still alive

Germany to put September 11 'banker' on trial in Hamburg

Man charged over Sept 11 involvement

Ground zero 'victim' turns up alive

Jonathan Jones: Will New York regain the power to delight?

Children's books about September 11

First payments made to September 11 relatives

Remembering the past and looking to the future

NY firefighters reached South Tower crash zone

Musicians cash in on 9/11 anniversary destroyed. If their relatives were to fly a plane into the Empire State Building I couldn't hold it against them," he added.

Mr Atta called his son a "gentle and tender boy", who enjoyed reading history and geography books and was nicknamed "Bolbol", or nightingale, by his parents.

Special reports

Attack on America

Afghanistan

Britain after September 11

Political response to September 11

Media response to September 11

United States

Interactive guides

Click-through guides to the events of September 11

Video and audio

America's day of terror

Comment and analysis

Writers' responses to September 11

Photo galleries

Images of the September 11 attacks

The victims

Timeline

11.09.2001: Terror and its aftermath

Useful links

List of the victims - New York Times

---

Printable version | Send it to a friend | Read it later | See saved stories

